

The 39th Annual Midwest Conference on Andean and Amazonian Archaeology and Ethnohistory

Written by Alexandra Gudiño

Friday, 18 February 2011 09:47 - Last Updated Monday, 28 February 2011 10:35

Website: <http://adn.missouri.edu/archaeologyconference/>

At the Museum of Art and Archeology - Pickard Hall
University of Missouri – Columbia
February 26-27, 2011
(The Conference is Free and Open to the Public)

Program

Friday, February 25

Pre-Conference gathering at 7:30pm on Broadway Brewery 816 East Broadway Columbia, MO 65201
<http://www.broadwaybrewery.com/>

Saturday, February 26 Morning Session (8:30 - 12:15)

8:00 - 8:30 Registration / Coffee & Pastries

8:30 - 8:40 Welcome Remarks

8:40 - 9:05

New Collaborations in the Upper Amazon

Bartholomew Dean, Sydney Silverstein, Joshua Homan, University of Kansas bartholomewdean@gmail.com

The 39th Annual Midwest Conference on Andean and Amazonian Archaeology and Ethnohistory

Written by Alexandra Gudiño

Friday, 18 February 2011 09:47 - Last Updated Monday, 28 February 2011 10:35

9:05 - 9:30 Multi-Scalar Comparisons in the Intermediate Area

Scott D. Palumbo, William A. Locascio, Alex Martín, and Adam C.J. Menzies

College of Lake County, University of Pittsburgh, University of Pittsburgh, St. Francis Xavier University

SPalumbo@clcollinois.edu

9:30 - 9:55

Geophysical Investigations at an Inca Site in Northwestern Ecuador

Donald W. Johnson

don.w.johnson@comcast.net

9:55 - 10:20

Yumbos of northwestern Ecuador as seen through burial customs

Ronald D. Lippi and Alejandra M. Gudiño

ronald.lippi@uwc.edu, gudinoa@missouri.edu

10:20-10:35 Morning Break

10:35 - 11:00

Lightning in Pre-Columbian and Colonial Andean Religion and Culture

John E. Staller

jstaller@earthlink.net

11:00 - 11:25

Narrative Composition in the Andes

Catherine J. Allen,

kitallen@gwu.edu

11:25 - 12:20 Keynote Presentation:

Royal Tunics: From Inca to Huari and Tiahuanaco

Their reflection of Political and Ritual Hierarchy

Dr. Tom Zuidema, (University of Illinois)

12:20 - 2:00 Lunch Break

Afternoon Session 2:00 – 6:30

2:00 - 2:25

The ethnohistory of adornment within the Tupi linguistic family: proto-condition and ethnographic examples

Brittany Long & Curtis Atkinson

blln74@mail.missouri.edu

2:25 - 2:50

The ethnohistory of the Tupi language family in the Amazon

Abigail Middleton and Curtis Atkinson asmb97@mail.missouri.edu; cja9tb@mail.missouri.edu

2:50 - 3:15

Passage Rituals of the Tupi: Celebration through scarification and seclusion

Stephanie Mundwiler

samh5f@mail.missouri.edu

3:15 - 3:40

Seeing the Stones of Chavin

Mary Weismantel

mjweis@gmail.com

3:40-4:05

Arrowroot and Llerén: The Archaeology of Two Neotropical Root Crops

Deborah M. Pearsall

pearsalld@missouri.edu

4:05 – 4:30 Afternoon Break

Afternoon Session II 4:30 - 6:30

At the Anthropology Museum

Swallow Hall (two buildings from Art & Archaeology Museum)

Reception in honor of Dr Tom Zuidema

Research and Contributions

Guest Speakers:

Catherine Allen

Bill Isbell

Debbie Pearsall

Jeff Parson

Sergio Chavez

Mary Weismantel

Business Meeting 6:15 – 6:30

Dinner at an Italian Restaurant at 7:00pm

Sunday, February 27

8:00 - 8:15 Coffee / Registration

8:15 - 8:40

A Small-scale society of Late Period in Valle Fértil, Middle West of Argentina (1000-1600DC): a preliminary approach over production and consumption from isotopic and osteometric analysis

Pablo Cahiza and Juan Pablo Aguilar

Written by Alexandra Gudiño

Friday, 18 February 2011 09:47 - Last Updated Monday, 28 February 2011 10:35

pcahiza@mendoza-conicet.gob.ar

8:40 - 9:05

Tiahuanaco Funerary Patterns at the Site of Cundisa in Copacabana, Bolivia Sergio and Stanislava Chavez chave1sj@cmich.edu

9:05 - 9:30

Venus as the centerpiece of the ancient Andean Moche Guerrero and Tiwanaku Gateway of the Sun calendric reliefs
Ann O. Laffey
alaff@ufl.edu

9:30 – 9:55

Promise and Problems of Food Residue Phytolith Assemblage Analysis
Robert Thompson
rthomps@umn.edu

9:55 - 10:10 Morning Break

10:10 -10:35

Effects of Seabird Guano Fertilization on the Stable Isotope Composition of Plants: Results from a Controlled Study Paul Szpak, Jean-François Millaire, Fred J. Longstaffe, Christine D. White pszpak@uwo.ca

10:35 – 11:00

Placing Pisanay: Excavations at a Sihuas Valley Site, Arequipa, Peru
Jo Ellen Burkholder & Erika Simborth Lozada
burkholj@uww.edu

11:00 - 11:25

Written by Alexandra Gudiño

Friday, 18 February 2011 09:47 - Last Updated Monday, 28 February 2011 10:35

Ritual Human Sacrifice in the Andes: A Case from the Preceramic Period?

Coutts, K.H., A. Chu and J. Krigbaum

khcoutts@ufl.edu

11:25 - 11:50

Ritual Feasting at Buena Vista: Special Foods, Ancient Cultigens or Interzonal Interaction in Late Preceramic Peru

Neil A. Duncan

neilduncan@mail.mizzou.edu

11:50 - 12:15

Implications of canal architecture at the songoy-cojal site complex, zaña valley, peru

Kayeleigh Sharp and Natalia Guzman-Requen

sharpka@siu.edu

12:15 - 12:40

Health and Labor at Armatambo, Perú: How Bioarchaeology Contributes to the Study of Social Complexity

Keith Chan

kccnp7@mail.mizzou.edu

Meeting Adjourn