

London South American Archaeology Seminar

Written by Bill Sillar

Wednesday, 16 March 2011 03:19 - Last Updated Monday, 21 March 2011 13:00

Dear All,

The next London South American Archaeology Seminar will be on Saturday 7th May. At the Institute of Archaeology UCL, 34 Gordon Square, London.

The Program is given below.

Everyone is welcome. But, it is important that you e-mail to confirm your participation and order your lunch. A contribution of £7.50 towards the cost of coffee, tea, lunch & administration will be required on the day.

10.00 am Coffee

10.30 Vincent Chamussy: (Université Paris I/CNRS) The rise of warfare in the Central Andean Area between Early Horizon and Early Intermediate Period

11.10 Donna Nash: (University of North Carolina Greensboro) Huánuco Pampa and Cerro Baúl: Centers of Pure Imperial Design

11.50 Ryan Williams: (Field Museum of Natural History) Ritual Activities at Cerro Baúl: A Tale of Three Cities

Lunch

London South American Archaeology Seminar

Written by Bill Sillar

Wednesday, 16 March 2011 03:19 - Last Updated Monday, 21 March 2011 13:00

1.30 pm Alden Yépez: La Laguna de Ayllón (canton Sigsig, Ecuador): del mito histórico a la realidad arqueológica.

2.10 Kevin Lane: (Free University of Berlin) When the saints come marching in: colony, church and change in the North-central Andes (1480-1610)

Tea

3.30 Adam Herring: (Southern Methodist University) Revision of a Dynastic Inca Vision: The Baño de la Ñusta, Ollantaytambo

4.10 Florencio Delgado: (Universidad San Francisco de Quito) Political and Ideological Landscape of the Late Manteno Polity in coastal Ecuador

We usually go for a drink at the bar of The Tavistock Hotel, on Tavistock Square, after the seminar.

Everyone is welcome. You are asked to make a contribution of £7.50 towards the cost of coffee, tea, lunch & administration cheques, payable to Bill Sillar (you are welcome to pay on the day, but please e-mail b.sillar@ucl.ac.uk to make a reservation and order sandwiches).

Our next meeting will be on: Saturday, 10th December, 2011

Bill Sillar & Gill Hey